My main theme is going to be a clean simple, one page with clear graphic, blocked areas. The graphic design will be a serene, woodsy feel that is a play off the "zen garden" idea. I'm hoping to achieve using blue and greens with visuals of nature. Possibly macros of natural items. I feel the overall background will be muted with these pops of color and visual pull from the graphics and the photos which can complement the content of the page. I want this to be visual design to be beautiful for the user but also still functional. I'm hoping this design will help guide the user to the important items of the page.

Here are two of the websites that I used as inspiration when redesigning the CSS Zen Garden Website.

http://www.csszengarden.com/219/

http://www.woodshedproduction.com/
 (Links to an external site.)

http://www.csszengarden.com/217/